

About Dataset

Provides info about Superstore products and customers, including the order and shipping dates, the customer name and ID, the product categories ...

There are several type of analyses that can be done on this dataset, like customer segmentation, cluster analysis, sales and profit analysis ...